CAREER

Charlotte Lutz began playing table tennis at the age of five, inspired by her sister Camille, and quickly rose through the French junior ranks with multiple national titles and team medals. Since 2020, she has trained at the CREPS in Strasbourg, developing an offensive playing style and transitioning successfully into senior competition.

By 2024, Lutz was part of the French women's team that earned a historic bronze medal at the World Team Championships. In 2025, she strengthened her senior profile with strong club performances in France's Pro A league and the European Champions League, a national mixed doubles title, and continued progress on the WTT circuit through regular main-draw appearances.

LEGACY AND FUTURE GOALS

As of 2025, Charlotte Lutz is regarded as one of France's most promising young female table tennis players. A regular member of the national team, she has contributed to historic team successes and established herself as a key figure in France's new generation of international competitors.

Looking ahead, Lutz aims to climb higher in the world singles rankings and compete for major titles at the World and European Championships. Her long-term objectives include establishing herself as a consistent top-tier professional while inspiring the next generation of French table tennis players and contributing to the continued growth of the sport in France.
